

P803543/WO/1

DaimlerChrysler AG

Abstract

The invention relates to an interior lamp, especially for a vehicle, which has a normal illuminating function and an ambient illuminating function for the purpose of providing ambient illumination for the interior.

The invention envisages the provision of an incandescent lamp for the normal illuminating function, and this lamp radiates through an optical waveguide arranged as a diffusing screen.